ARIA award winner Adrian Eagle headlines NGV Friday Nights line-up alongside emerging talent this winter

9 June – 7 October 2023 | NGV International | Bookings required, admission fees apply

2 May 2023: The National Gallery of Victoria (NGV) has announced the performer line-up for the 2023 NGV Friday Nights featuring headline act, ARIA award winner Adrian Eagle. The 19-week season from 9 June to 7 October brings a kaleidoscope of colour and soulful sounds to Melbourne's winter nights in celebration of Melbourne Winter Masterpieces® exhibition Pierre Bonnard: Designed by India Mahdavi.

The live music series traverses disco, jazz, and soul with performances by R&B singer-songwriter Ashwarya, the enigmatic Melbourne-based Glass Beams, and Noongar soul singer Bumpy, in addition to live DJ sets from C000kie, Zepherin Saint, and Chris Gill. Singer-songwriter Adrian Eagle will launch the series on 9 June with his melodic fusion of gospel and hip-hop in the Great Hall.

NGV Friday Nights offers late-night access to Pierre Bonnard: Designed by India Mahdavi, a major world-premiere exhibition delivered in partnership with the Musee d'Orsay, Paris. The exhibition presents more than 100 works by the leading French painter Pierre Bonnard (1867-1947) and brings late 19th and early 20th century France to life through paintings, drawings, prints, and photographs. The exhibition presents Bonnard's works within a bold and captivating scenography from international design icon, India Mahdavi who will employ her designs with Bonnard's distinct use of colour and texture.
