ESTABLISHMENT, FUNCTIONS AND POWERS OF THE NATIONAL GALLERY OF VICTORIA

MISSION STATEMENT

School students viewing
Egyptian art at NGV on Russell

The mission of the National Gallery of Victoria is to optimise for the benefit of all Victorians its nationally and internationally acknowledged reputation as custodian of the richest treasury of visual arts in the southern hemisphere.

The Gallery will provide all Victorians and visitors to the State with a vibrant and challenging environment in which to experience, appreciate and enjoy the visual arts in all media from antiquity to the present day.

As a dynamic venue presenting world-class exhibitions and utilising innovative display and communications technologies, the Gallery will be the cornerstone of Melbourne's cultural status, firmly establishing the city as the arts capital of Australia.

Establishment, Functions and Powers of the National Gallery of Victoria

The National Gallery, as defined in the National Gallery of Victoria Act 1966, is the responsibility of a Council of Trustees established under the legislation reporting to the Minister for the Arts, The Honourable Mary Delahunty, MP.

1 Functions of the Council

1 The function of the Council shall be:

- a to manage and control the National Gallery;
- b to maintain, conserve, develop and promote the State collection of works of art;
- c to make material within the State collection available to persons, departments and institutions in such manner and subject to such conditions as the Council determines with a view to the most advantageous use of the State collection;
- ca to conduct public programs and exhibitions of material within the State collection;
- d to carry out and make available such other services, including computer and other technologies and the printing, publication and sale of books, information and reproductions, in relation to pictures, works of art and art exhibits as the Council thinks fit;
- e to assist in the promotion, organisation and supervision of art galleries and any body or association established for the promotion of art within Victoria;
- f to advise the Minister and the organisations mentioned in paragraph (e) on matters of general policy relating to art galleries;
- g to provide leadership in the provision of art gallery services in Victoria;
- h to carry out such other functions as the Minister from time to time approves.

2 In carrying out its functions, the Council must endeavour to contribute to the enrichment of the cultural, educational, social and economic life of the people of Victoria.

2 Power to Council to sell, purchase etc. property:

- (1) Subject to sub-section (2) and with the approval of the Governor-in-Council, the Council may exchange, sell, lease or dispose of any property vested in it by or under this Act.
- (2) The Governor-in-Council must not approve the sale, exchange or disposal of a work of art in the State collection unless satisfied that the Council has resolved that retention of that work is unnecessary and inappropriate to the activities of the Council.

(2A) Sub-section (2) does not apply to works of art in the development collection.

(2B) Notwithstanding the provisions of sub-section (1) the Council may subject to and in accordance with the by-laws exchange, sell, lease or otherwise dispose of works of art in the development collection.

(2C) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in sub-section (3) the Council shall not out of the moneys available to it acquire works of art for the development collection unless the moneys so used:

- (a) are paid out by the Council subject to and in accordance with the terms of a special trust;
- (b) are made available to the Council for that purpose; or
- (c) represent all or part of the proceeds of the sale, exchange, leasing or disposal by the Council of any work or works of art in the development collection.

(2D) The Council shall not include in the development collection any works of art which were at the commencement of the National Gallery of Victoria (Development Collection) Act 1976 in the State collection.

3 The Council may accept or take on loan or, out of any moneys available to it, purchase any personal property for the purpose of carrying into effect the objects of this Act.

(3A) The Council may with the consent of the Governor-in-Council purchase any personal property for the purposes of carrying into effect the objects of this Act on terms of deferred payment and those terms may provide that the purchase money shall be paid by instalments and the purchase may be subject to such other terms and conditions as the Council thinks fit.

4 In addition to any other method of donation or gift which the Council is entitled to accept, the Council may accept a donation or gift of, or of cash for the purchase of, any picture, work of art or exhibit conditional on such picture, work of art or exhibit:

- a remaining in the custody of the donor during his/her lifetime or for any other period agreed upon between the donor and the Council; and
- b being handed over by the donor to the Council for the purpose of exhibition or study whenever and for such period as the Council may in writing so request.

5 The Council may lend works of art vested in or under the management or control of the Council to such persons or for such purposes as the Council thinks fit.

6 With the approval of the Governor-in-Council the Council may agree to indemnify and execute indemnities under the seal of the Council in favour of a person and his/her legal personal representative against any liability which may be incurred by that person or his/her legal personal representative by the operation of a law of the Commonwealth or of this or any other State or of any other country as a result of the gift, loan or sale of any personal property to the Council.

PRESIDENT'S FOREWORD

Steve Vizard, AM

On behalf of my fellow Trustees, I am pleased to present the Annual Report for the year ending June 2001. This past year has been enormously stimulating for the Trustees, management and staff of the National Gallery of Victoria.

You will see in the following pages, an account of the remarkable redevelopment activities, which have taken place. Both building projects are well underway. The Ian Potter Centre: NGV Australian Art at Federation Square is expected to be open to the public mid-2002, an occasion that, like many Melburnians, we are all looking forward to.

In February 2001, the Premier announced that Boulderstone Hornibrook Pty Ltd had been awarded the tender for building work at the St Kilda Road site. This project is progressing extremely well, with completion expected by early 2003, and the building is expected to open to the public mid-2003.

The exceptional support that the National Gallery of Victoria has received from private gifts and donations is especially noteworthy and warmly appreciated. More than $30 million has been received from the many loyal and supportive friends of the Gallery. This tangible show of support has bolstered the efforts of the National Gallery of Victoria as we draw closer to the opening dates of our two premises.

This period of redevelopment has enabled the Gallery to present to the world some of our best European paintings. European Masterpieces: Six Centuries of Paintings from the National Gallery of Victoria, Australia has been loaned to a number of museums and art galleries in the United States of America and a reduced show was loaned to New Zealand. In all locations the exhibition has been met with much praise and acclaim from the public. The works will next travel to Singapore and then return to us in Melbourne in 2003.

This past year has highlighted and reinforced the support shown by the State Government of Victoria, with the Premier, the Hon. Steve Bracks MP, participating in a number of key events, and the Minister for Arts and Education, the Hon. Mary Delahunty MP, similarly being involved throughout the year. We are indebted to the Premier, the Minister and the Government for the support shown to the National Gallery of Victoria during this period of redevelopment, and are certain that these new buildings will reinforce Melbourne's standing within the national and international arts community.

There have been a number of changes to the Council of Trustees during the past year. I would like to welcome Ms Sally Smart and Ms Merran Kelsall, who bring to the Council new insights and considerable expertise. My colleagues at the Gallery, both fellow Trustees and staff, look forward to working with them. We bid farewell to Mr Michael Darling and Dr Chris McAulliffe, who have both made significant contributions during their terms of office.

I would like to acknowledge the dedication shown by my fellow Trustees, Mr Jim Cousins, Deputy President, Chairman of the Building Committee and the Internal Audit Committee; Mr Chris Brown, Treasurer, Chairman of the Finance Committee and the Multimedia Steering Committee; Dr Alison Inglis, Chairman of the Collections Committee and a member of the Committee of the Gallery Society; Mr Ron Walker, Building Committee; Mr Rupert Myer, Chairman of both the Fundraising Committee and the NGV Foundation; Mr Peter Clemenger, President of the Gallery Society; Ms Maudie Palmer, Programming Committee and Collections Committee; and Ms Joy Murphy-Wandin, Internal Audit Committee and Fundraising Committee.

Finally, I would like to thank the management and staff for their immense contribution to the Gallery: the executive staff – Dr Gerard Vaughan, our Director, who has contributed much to every aspect of Gallery life; Mr Graeme Newcombe, Chief Operating Officer, who provides invaluable guidance to the Gallery; Ms Frances Lindsay, Deputy Director, for her untiring efforts in ensuring that The Ian Potter Centre: NGV Australian Art is opened to the acclaim it surely deserves; Mr Tony Ellwood, Deputy Director, who has worked very closely with the architects to ensure that the St Kilda Road building will delight all visitors; Mr Gordon Morrison, Exhibitions and Collection Management, who has delivered a range of spectacular exhibition programs – all staff, the support groups and the benefactors. During this year, the International Year of the Volunteer, I would like to extend a special thank you to the Volunteers who enthusiastically give their time and skills to the Gallery. We farewell Ms Ruth Davidson, Division Head, Marketing and Development, and are grateful for her hard work and dedication in assisting the Gallery to reach this point, and thank Ms Judy Williams for stepping into that position in the interim.

I look forward to working with everyone in the coming year to ensure that the National Gallery of Victoria remains a great cultural icon for the people of Victoria.

Steve Vizard, AM

DIRECTOR'S REPORT

Dr Gerard Vaughan

We have completed another challenging year. All of our activities continue to be heavily influenced by the redevelopment process.

REDEVELOPMENT PROGRESS

Our new building, The Ian Potter Centre: NGV Australian Art at Federation Square, assumed its final form, with its spacious interiors articulated architecturally, ready for the finishes. The project to redevelop our St Kilda Road building got off to a flying start, following the Premier's announcement on 26 February 2001 that the tender had been awarded to Boulderstone Hornibrook Pty Ltd. We are quietly confident that The Ian Potter Centre: NGV Australian Art at Federation Square will open to the public in mid-2002, and the National Gallery of Victoria: NGV International Art in St Kilda Road will open a year later.

The redevelopment defines many other aspects of the work of the NGV. Our ambitious multimedia project has shot ahead, ready for opening day in Federation Square. Helen Page has completed the formation of a talented multimedia team and, working with the Deputy Directors, the dual process of content development and obtaining digitised images of the collection has begun in earnest. New publications about our collections, designed to enhance our visitors' enjoyment of the new layouts and installations, are well advanced.

The exhibitions program for both buildings is also well developed, and detailed planning is underway for shows up to five years ahead. The Ian Potter Centre: NGV Australian Art will open with a major exhibition Fieldwork, a survey of issues and trends in Australian art as reflected through the collecting policies of the NGV since 1968, when we moved into St Kilda Road. The title is deliberately conceived as a homage to that memorable show, The Field, with which we inaugurated the new Gallery.

The Buildings Sub-committee, admirably chaired by Jim Cousins, has worked ceaselessly on every aspect of the two building projects. A major achievement during this year was securing occupancy of the north ground floor of our Federation Square building from the Federation Square Management Company, on the basis of the NGV paying a full commercial rent. This space, preciously earmarked for rental by external tenants, will now allow us to offer our visitors a larger better, and more financially profitable, retail facility.

PLANNING FOR THE FUTURE

The year has also seen the completion of our three-year Strategic Plan 2001–2003, which defines our priorities and values, guiding every member of our staff, and our external stakeholders, in understanding the NGV's public mission. A combined program of internal and external consultation has resulted in a succinct, clear document which I believe will be an invaluable resource in the coming years.

The Strategic Plan defines our key mission as 'Bringing art and people together'. I would like to thank Robyn Worsnop, Graeme Newcombe, Tony Ellwood and all the members of the Strategic Plan Project Team for their commitment to this process.

As part of the Strategic Plan, we undertook a review of key senior management processes and structures in October, resulting in a number of changes, including a redefining of the General Manager's role to that of Chief Operating Officer with new responsibilities in budgetary management.

FUNDING THE REDEVELOPMENT

The Gallery Campaign, the most ambitious fundraising program ever undertaken by a visual arts institution in Australia, was launched on 10 October 2000 by the Premier, in the presence of our Minister, The Hon. Mary Delahunty MP. The Gallery Campaign seeks to raise $64 million from non-government sources to complete an overall $200 million redevelopment goal. That is to say, it will build upon the $136 million already secured to provide the base building at St Kilda Road: $96 million committed by the Government of Victoria, $25 million committed by the Commonwealth Government through the Federation Fund, and $15 million provided by the Governors of The Ian Potter Foundation.

It was again the Premier who announced The Ian Potter Foundation's magnificent grant on 11 July 2000. This was the largest grant ever made in Australia to an arts organisation from a non-government source, and predictably brought a huge amount of press and public attention.

This extraordinary gesture of support for the NGV – in response to which the Council of Trustees has named our Federation Square building 'The Ian Potter Centre' – caught the imagination of the whole community, and was the ideal prelude for the formal launch of our fundraising campaign.

Chaired by Rupert Myer (whose father and uncle had played similar roles in the lead-up to the opening of the St Kilda Road gallery in 1968), the campaign got off to a flying start with the announcement of a group of important gifts and pledges. These included $3 million from Mrs Loti Smorgon, $2 million from the Clemenger Foundation, and $1 million each from Mr James Fairfax and the Pratt Foundation. The campaign's parallel program of Notified Bequests, whereby an intending bequestor formally notifies the Gallery of his or her intentions and can therefore receive an appropriate level of recognition from the NGV Foundation, was also inaugurated with several exceptionally generous pledges.

DONATIONS OF WORKS OF ART

Throughout the year the Gallery continued to receive, through the NGV Foundation, generous donations of works of art. These are listed further on in this report, but the year can be counted exceptional because of two very remarkable gifts: Mr John Wicking's presentation of Hugh Ramsay's portrait of Jeanne (1901), indisputably one of the greatest Australian paintings of the turn of the 20th century; Primmy and Charles Bright's presentation of Giovanni Paolo Panini's The Cumaean Sibyl delivering the Oracles, allowing at last this significant 18th century painter to be represented in our collection by a work of exceptional quality. We thank these and all our donors for their generous support and confidence in the NGV's future.

It is worth noting that in this very exceptional year, the total value of all private, non-government gifts and pledges, from all sources and for all purposes, and including works of art, has exceeded $30 million. This private support for our collections and development project is extremely encouraging.

EUROPEAN MASTERPIECES

In October 2000 we inaugurated our great travelling exhibition, European Masterpieces: Six Centuries of Paintings from the National Gallery of Victoria, Australia, with the first US venue being the Cincinnati Museum of Art, Ohio. I had the honour of attending the launch and associated events, with Rupert Myer representing the Council of Trustees. The exhibition was attended by record crowds and received enthusiastic press and television coverage, a testament to the exceptional quality of the Melbourne collection.

Thereafter, the exhibition travelled to the Kimbell Museum of Art in Dallas, Fort Worth (Jim Cousins representing the Council of Trustees at the opening on 20 March 2001), and the Denver Art Museum, Colorado (Tony Ellwood, Deputy Director, representing the NGV at the opening events on 24, 25 and 27 June 2001).

We were pleased to agree to an additional fifth US venue, the Birmingham Museum of Art in Alabama, as well as agreeing to half of the exhibition travelling on to the Singapore Art Museum after its return from the USA in mid-2002.

The tour has been an important opportunity to promote not just the NGV, but also Victoria and Australia.

NGV ON RUSSELL

The year also saw the inauguration of a series of temporary exhibitions in our Russell Street galleries. We began in October with a relatively small, but important, exhibition of architectural models, drawings, and photographs of the work of Daniel Libeskind, undertaken in collaboration with the Jewish Museum of Australia. The exhibition, curated by Tracey Judd, achieved a high level of interest in architectural circles, and launched what we hope will be a series of ongoing exhibitions dedicated to architecture and design. Daniel Libeskind visited Melbourne and gave a seminar on the architecture of the contemporary art museum at the NGV, to which representatives of other public galleries were invited.

On 16 November we opened an important exhibition dedicated to the fashion designer Gianni Versace, curated by Robyn Healy. This proved to be highly successful, with more than 60,000 visitors, and also played a pioneering role in attracting new audiences. In appreciation of the quality and success of the Melbourne exhibition, the Fondazione Versace of Milan donated three important gowns, including one designed for Diana, Princess of Wales.

On 15 March we opened the Dead Sea Scrolls exhibition, which in turn attracted new audiences, with 50,791 visitors. We concluded the year with another highly successful VCE exhibition, Top Arts, which again attracted more than 50,000 visitors.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

We value the support we receive from Arts Victoria, through Penny Hutchinson and her colleagues, and the interest and support we regularly receive from our Minister, Mary Delahunty, and her staff. Steve Vizard and members of the Council of Trustees continue to offer guidance and advice on every aspect of our operations, and all the members of the Senior Management Team recognise the huge additional demands the redevelopment projects make upon the Trustees' valuable time.

At the end of 2000 Sonia Dean, our Senior Curator, International Art, retired after 30 years of outstanding service. As a curator and scholar, as an initiator and deliverer of exhibitions, as a mentor and colleague, Sonia's contribution to the life of the NGV has been exceptional and we wish her well in her retirement.

We continue to receive magnificent support from our various voluntary groups and membership organisations, and their ongoing contributions are fully documented in this report. Without these friends, who give so freely of their time and efforts, we could not produce the results of which we are so proud.

As Director I would like to pay tribute to each and every member of staff of the NGV, whose extraordinary dedication and skills have made possible all the events and achievements outlined in this report. The Deputy Directors, Frances Lindsay and Tony Ellwood, the Chief Operating Officer, Graeme Newcombe, the Head of the Collections Division, Gordon Morrison, and the Head of Marketing, Ruth Davidson, have all gone beyond the call of duty, not only to manage the day to day activities for which they are responsible, but also to deal with the demands of two enormous, separate building projects.

When these projects are completed, Melbourne and Victoria will have two of the finest art museum complexes anywhere in the world. By the time we issue next year's Annual Report, the Ian Potter Centre: NGV Australian Art at Federation Square will have opened. We are all working towards that important event.

Curatorial

ACQUISITIONS

The Australian collection received a very generous gift from John and Janet Wicking through the NGV Foundation, of Hugh Ramsay's Jeanne 1901, universally acknowledged as one of the artist's masterpieces. The subject, Jeanne Garreau, was the daughter of Ramsay's concierge at Montparnasse when the artist was working in Paris. Another significant acquisition was Augustus Earle's portrait of Captain Thomas Valentine Blomfield (c. 1827), purchased with the assistance of the K.M. Christensen and A.E. Bond Bequest, through the NGV Foundation with the assistance of an anonymous donor. It is an important acquisition of the early colonial era that relates to a pair of Earle portraits already in the collection. Another major colonial work acquired was a beautiful daguerreotype by James and William Freeman, Portrait of a family (c. 1855), purchased through the Gerstl Bequest. Other purchases of early Australian works included a watercolour of 1817–21 by the convict artist Richard Browne depicting Burgun, an indigenous male from the Sydney area, purchased through the Warren Clark Bequest.

For Australian art of the 20th century, the addition of Nora Heysen's Portrait study 1933, purchased through the NGV Foundation with the assistance of the Joe White Bequest, represented the first work by this important South Australian artist to enter the collection.

Other important acquisitions included Charles Blackman's painting, Barbara and Auguste 1957, a figure composition painted to celebrate the birth of the artist's first child, that was presented by Mrs Barbara Blackman through the NGV Foundation; and Something to come 1964, a painting by Margo Lewers, a significant Sydney artist who was previously unrepresented in the collection, which was purchased at auction.

Lyn Williams, through the NGV Foundation, generously donated the ninth group of etchings by Fred Williams to the Prints and Drawings collection, as part of an on-going gift. This selection of forty outstanding and rare impressions are part of a systematic program to build up the Gallery's holdings of the print oeuvre of Fred Williams in order to make it the most comprehensive in Australia. With this gift, Lyn Williams becomes an Honorary Life Benefactor of the NGV Foundation.

The Contemporary Australian art collection was augmented with the purchase through the NGV Foundation with the assistance of the Joan Clemenger Endowment, of a sculptural installation by Sarah Robson entitled, Cadence, 1999. Other significant purchases included, an early large Bowl (c. 1967–68) by Gwyn Hanssen Piggott, through the NGV Foundation with the assistance of the Marjorie Webster Memorial, and Mike Parr's monumental woodcut, The now schizophrenic 2000, purchased through the NGV Foundation, with the assistance of Rita Avdiev. In addition, Elizabeth Gower's collage, (Beetles), from the Chance or Design series (1993–95), was acquired through the NGV Foundation with the assistance of The Leon and Sandra Velik Endowment for Contemporary Drawings.

Major acquisitions of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Art that were presented through the NGV Foundation included a most generous gift from Elizabeth and Colin Laverty of three large Papunya Tula works by Uta Uta Tjangala, Anatjari Tjakamarra and Joseph Jorra Tjapaltjarri, and a major early painting by Gordon Bennett, Perpetual Motion Machine, from Beverly and Anthony Knight. The gift from the Ekkilau Craft Torres Strait Islander Corporation of Kikim Kerker Maizab Kaur Ad Bami 1996, a major installation depicting a Darnley Island creation story, was another important acquisition that strengthened the Gallery's representation of artists from the Torres Strait Islands.

A major acquisition to the Asian Art collection was a Chinese handscroll attributed to Wang Zhenpeng, Dragon Boat Regatta in the Jimning Pond 1323, donated from the Bequest of Geoffrey Ernest Sargant. The inscription on the scroll indicates that it was painted to commemorate the birthday of the then heir, and later Emperor, Renzong. Other significant additions were a Japanese red lacquered wood circular tray, purchased through the NGV Foundation with the assistance of Sir Roderick and Lady Carnegie, and a Negoro lacquered armrest purchased through the NGV Foundation with the assistance of The Peter and Susan Rowland Endowment.

An exciting addition to the Fashion and Textiles collection was Swimsuit (c. 1935) by John Orry-Kelly made from wool and elastic, that was presented through the Jean Gurnett Smith Bequest. The work is a rare example of the figure hugging silhouettes which reigned on the screens of Hollywood during the 1930s and 1940s.

The Photography collection was augmented by the acquisition of a series of works by Felice Beato including the major photograph No title (Barbers) (1866–68). The works were purchased through the NGV Foundation with the assistance of The Herald and Weekly Times Limited. The acquisition of these photographs develops a new collecting area of Japanese studio photographs of the nineteenth century.

Important acquisitions for the Decorative Arts collections included a group of Minton porcelain and majolica ware, presented through the NGV Foundation by Dr Robert Wilson, and a group of Chelsea porcelain items, presented through the NGV Foundation by Mrs Angela Isles. A Hanging cabinet, attributed to E.W. Godwin and presented through the NGV Foundation by Terence Lane, was the major acquisition of European furniture.

The purchase of two first edition impressions from Piranesi's etched views, the Vedute di Roma: View of the Piazza del Popolo and View of the Capitoline Hill with the steps to the Church of S. Maria in Araceli, were important additions to the Prints and Drawings collection. Professor Musgrave presented through the NGV Foundation three additional Hogarth prints supplementing his earlier gift of Hogarth engravings, while Margaret Stones presented through the NGV Foundation a Piranesi etching, depicting the Via Appia from the artist's Roman Antiquities series. Michael Moon presented a fine impression of Steeplechasing, a colour linocut from 1930 by Sybil Andrews, one of the leading artists of the Grosvenor School.

In the contemporary field, Richard Hamilton's colour iris digital print, A mirrorical return 1998 was purchased through the NGV Foundation, with the assistance of Bret Walker S.C. A pair of screenprints made in 2000 by the young British artists, Langlands & Bell, Air routes of Britain (Day) and (Night) was also purchased through the NGV Foundation, with the assistance of Optus Communication Pty Limited. Ken and Marian Scarlett presented through the NGV Foundation an interesting group of works on paper by the Japanese installation and performance artists Tadashi Kawamata, Goji Hamada and Akio Suzuki, all of whom were involved in exhibitions held in Melbourne in the 1980s.

ACQUISITION:

Hugh RAMSAY
(born Great Britain 1877, arrived in Australia 1878, died 1906).

Jeanne, (1901),
oil on canvas.
Presented through the NGV Foundation by John and Janet Wicking, Honorary Life Benefactor, 2001

A donation by an anonymous donor enabled the significant purchase of three dresses by London designer Hussein Chalayan for the Fashion and Textiles collection. The works, Cast dress no.1, no. 2 and no. 3 2000–01, are made from a polyester resin and their design aims to link the virtual to the real world.

Multimedia

Multimedia supports the NGV to extend its local, regional and global audiences. The planned combination of internet and in-house multimedia at the Gallery will provide the public with a continuum of interaction with cultural knowledge through pre-visit, actual visit, post-visit and virtual (non-visit) access to content and services.

This has been a year of change, growth and consolidation for the Multimedia department. In recognition of its public access role, the department was transferred to the Curatorial Division in July 2000, reporting to the Deputy Directors. An expanded team structure was established by January 2001 to support the increased demand for multimedia content and services both on the internet and within the new buildings. The team now consists of a manager, a project manager, a designer, a production co-ordinator/editor, a web programer and an administration officer.

EXHIBITION MULTIMEDIA AT THE NGV

cdp Media were commissioned in August 2000 to develop production briefs, along with preliminary hardware and software specifications, concept design, budget estimates, production and installation schedules for exhibition multimedia at The Ian Potter Centre: NGV Australian Art at Federation Square. This followed from the recommendations in the National Museums of Scotland's report, building on the NGV's multimedia initiatives and the concepts previously developed by cdp Media and Lab+ Bates Smart for multimedia in the new building.

From this work and the intensive work undertaken by the NGV's Multimedia Team with the architects for the National Gallery of Victoria: NGV International Art at St Kilda Road, the team developed and released a tender for exhibition multimedia responding to both buildings' requirements. The tender closed on 24 May 2001.

NGV MULTIMEDIA AND THE INTERNET

A major redevelopment of the NGV's web site (www.ngv.vic.gov.au) is being undertaken to tie in with the opening of The Ian Potter Centre: NGV Australian Art, whilst maintaining a vibrant existing presence. The NGV web site contains information representing the whole of the Gallery's activities, ranging from exhibition, education and public programs, to Gallery Shop, members, employment vacancies and media releases. The site holds approximately 1715 pages of rich information and image content, with over one fifth having been created since the beginning of January 2001. For a variety of reasons, it is difficult to accurately report on web site usage. However, the NGV's statistics show an average of over 100,000 page requests per month, with consistent growth.

The NGV web site is promoted as an additional benefit to NGV's sponsors. All exhibition sites aim to maximise marketing, product sales and program bookings. In addition, they provide contextual information and activities aimed to enhance the experience of the visitor and provide a taste of the experience for those who cannot visit. When exhibitions close the information is retained, contributing to the growing pool of information resources the NGV provides to the public. Notable examples of current content include:

- Provenance Research Project*: This web page is part of the ongoing research undertaken by the NGV on the history of ownership (provenance) of paintings in the European collection, from the moment the artist first disposed of the work to its acquisition by the NGV. This work is a critical activity of the Gallery as the provenance of a work of art is recognised as an important element of social and cultural history.

In recent years, there has been worldwide interest by governments, art galleries, museums, scholars, historians and the public to clarify the provenance of works of art during the period of systematic looting and confiscation undertaken by the Nazi regime from 1933–45. To this end, the NGV is the first Australian gallery, through its web site, to draw particular public attention to a number of works that, for many possible reasons, have gaps in the provenance during those critical years.

- Gianni Versace: The Retrospective 1982–1997*: The dynamic web page added biographical material and a walk-through of the gallery space, helping to generate excitement about the exhibition.

- European Masterpieces: Six Centuries of Paintings from the National Gallery of Victoria, Australia*: Constructed to support the touring exhibition and its host galleries, this web site allows visitors to browse the 80 included works. In addition to supporting the touring exhibition, it provides Victorians online access to some of the most important and most-loved European works in the NGV collection while they are touring overseas. The Arts Reporter at the Columbus (Ohio) Dispatch thanked the NGV for providing the detailed list of works on the web site, noting that not many museums listed every work in their shows.

- Colin McCahon: A Time for Messages: Exploring the works A letter to Hebrews (1979) and the newly acquired One (1965), this web site includes an essay, biography and list of works for the exhibition.
- Dead Sea Scrolls: In addition to providing information about each scroll fragment, the web site added two special online inter-actives: one allowing close examination of the Psalms scroll, and another exploring the story of Moses as represented in works in the NGV collection.
- Top Arts: VCE 2000: Aiming to support current VCE students, this web site profiles four exhibiting VCE 2000 students, their work and their folios. It also provides access to student work from previous years.
- Renoir to Picasso: Features the represented artists and their works, the history of the Musée de l'Orangerie and the collector Paul Guillaume. Also features a special pre-visit interactive aimed at 10–12 year old children. The web site experiments with new ways to market key public programs.
- Public Programs: Information for visitors, in support of public programs.
- Education Programs: Information for teachers and parents in support of ongoing programs for schools.
- NGV Shop: Ongoing support of mail order business through an online catalogue and order form.

MULTIMEDIA PROJECT – DIGITISING

With the acquisition of digital photographic equipment, additional staff and training for the NGV's Photographic Services department, the NGV is moving from a primarily analogue photographic process to a primarily digital capture process. Implementation of the digitising aspect of the Multimedia Project is now the responsibility of Photographic Services, with the Multimedia Team retaining grant reporting responsibility, to Arts Victoria and Multimedia Victoria.

As well as the outcomes for multimedia production, flow-on benefits to other departments within the NGV from this change include Marketing and Development saving an estimated $50 per press release by circulating promotional images on CD-ROM, as well as Curators and Cataloguing having quick and easy access to colour prints. Future beneficiaries should include Publications, Education and Programs.

EXTERNAL COLLABORATIONS

Two Memorandums of Understanding for collaborative development have been signed this year, the first between the NGV and the Victorian Department of Education, Employment and Training (DEET) for access to NGV content via their on-line Education Channel, and the second with SBS and other major Victorian cultural institutions for development of content for a dedicated SBS cultural site.

Education and Programs

Following the first year of program initiatives established at NGV on Russell, a range of programs designed for new and diverse audiences was piloted and trialled. With changing exhibitions and pay exhibitions, the scope for diverse programs and increased attendances expanded. In excess of 57,000 people participated in education, public and members' programs, representing an increase of 27 per cent in program attendances compared with the previous year.

Information Staff continued to provide high quality customer service to 300,000 visitors who came to the Gallery, and responded to more than 5000 email and written enquiries. Access to and training for Information Officers in the Vernon database further assisted staff in prompt replies to these enquiries that came from local, national and international locations.

Program preparation for education services at the Gallery's new and redeveloped sites was supported by a restructure in school programs at the end of 2000 and the subsequent appointment of Senior Education Officers for Australian Art and International Art respectively. Programs and services to regional Victoria was the other key aspect to the education restructure, and in May 2001 an Outreach Education Officer was appointed to focus on curriculum support for outer metropolitan and country schools.

December marked the anniversary of 50 years of education services at the NGV. Eighty past and present staff, teachers, NGV staff and colleagues attended a celebratory function held on 5 December to reflect on achievements of the passing decades and to foreshadow the expectations and challenges of the years to come. Gerard Vaughan, Director, Susan Dennett, Curriculum Coordinator, DEET, and James Mollison, former Director, NGV, made presentations.

Synergies between art and education were strengthened by a joint membership drive launched at the end of 2000 by Art Education Victoria (art teachers' subject association) and the National Gallery Society (NGS). In the first six months of the campaign, more than seventy art teachers registered and paid for this special membership offer.

As part of the department's on-going commitment to the development, co-ordination and evaluation of innovative programs to enhance the visitor's experience and appreciation of the Gallery and its collections, a range of high quality and new programs were presented, in particular for community-based activities and programs. Members' programs were well researched to provide exclusive events and programs, accessible only through the NGV and NGS Membership.

PUBLIC AND MEMBERS' PROGRAMS

The 'NGV Art Lounge' was launched in October 2000 with the specific purpose of attracting young people aged 18–30 years to come to the Gallery for social engagement, contemporary music, reasonably priced food and wine and interesting conversations with like-minded people and friends. 'By Design' incorporated visits to commercial galleries and a focus on contemporary art and design beyond the walls of the Gallery. 'Film on Friday' presented new scope for video and short films in support of temporary exhibitions. 'Art on the Move' introduced thematic tours presented by Gallery staff and guest speakers. 'Master Classes' expanded the Gallery Art School program with a range of intensive one-day workshops introduced to provide young audiences with practical skills and techniques and the opportunity to work with professional artists and practitioners. 'In-reach Regional Artbus Programs' targeted country locations and regional galleries to bring people to the NGV. 'European Masterpieces Lecture Series' began in 2001 in response to the catalogue of works from the NGV's European collections currently travelling overseas.

To better understand the program interests of the public and members, staff implemented program evaluations and a telephone survey of members currently not participating in programs. The outcome of these evaluations confirm that programs are satisfying interest levels and expectations. Some programs and services were also modified or removed from the program schedule due to low audience responses. These included 'Vox Pop', 'Auslan Family Programs', weekend 'Artbus Programs' and the 'Members Incentive Scheme'. More than 14,000 people participated in Public and Members' Programs.

SCHOOL PROGRAMS

Classes in the collection, workshops and specialised programs focusing on the NGV and temporary exhibitions as a resource for curriculum across all key learning areas were provided to more than 39,000 students and teachers.

In excess of 4000 students received programs as part of outreach services to outer metropolitan and regional locations. Programs in support of travelling exhibitions were also developed and conducted for Modern Australian Landscape Painting and Nolan Wimmera Landscapes, which travelled to Mornington Peninsula Gallery, La Trobe Gallery, Gippsland Art Gallery and Bendigo Art Gallery, Benalla Art Gallery, and The George Adams Gallery respectively in the latter half of 2000.

Work experience placements of one to two week's duration were provided to nine year-10 students from across Victoria, including the Catholic Regional College, Catholic Ladies College Eltham, University High, Community Options Programs, Loretto Mandeville, and Stawell Secondary College. New program initiatives included expanded VCE programs across the study designs, art and studio arts, and student holiday programs.

New education resources were developed and distributed in support of temporary exhibitions including a student trail for middle years for Melbourne 1956 and Dead Sea Scrolls, and a teachers' resource was prepared in conjunction with the education staff of the Jewish Museum of Australia for the exhibition LINEAGE: the Architecture of Daniel Libeskind. The Italian kit Dove C'Arte: a resource for students and teachers of Italian was completed in May and launched as part of Education Week 2001. The kit features 16 works from the NGV collection, bilingual and historical information on each work and activities for students of early, middle and later years. The kit is a joint project with the LOTE Unit of the DEET and COASIT. The on-line education resource for Top Arts: VCE 2000 was prepared to respond to the revised study designs, current exhibits and student enquiries.

The Visual Arts Hub Network, a voluntary association of education staff, arts administrators and curators from regional locations, convened by Education School Programs at the NGV, met eight times throughout the year to focus on and exchange program ideas, resource development and curriculum support. Meeting venues included the Australian Centre for Contemporary Art in July; Melbourne Exhibition Centre for the DEET Lets Read Expo in September; Jewish Museum in October; The Ian Potter Centre for Contemporary Art at The University of Melbourne in December; DEET in February; Monash Gallery of Art in April; Bendigo Art Gallery in May, and the NGV in June.

A closed lecture forum was conducted for directors and representatives from metropolitan and regional galleries and arts agencies. School programs targeted students and teachers of visual communication and design and technology studies. The education staff of the NGV and the Jewish Museum of Australia jointly developed an education resource for teachers and senior students. A $2500 budget was allocated for the production of an education resource for teachers and senior students, highlighting the major building projects by Daniel Libeskind.

Gianni Versace: The Retrospective 1982–1997

Public programs attendance: over 2100; student/teachers: over 900

A public program full of verve was developed to support this exciting fashion exhibition. The 'NGV Art Lounge' had more than 180 attendees grooving to the sounds of the eighties and the 'Teachers' Preview' attracted more than 200 to the dance party. The 'In-reach Artbus Program' brought visitors from Bendigo Art Gallery, Mornington Peninsula Gallery and Geelong Art Gallery. A $3500 budget was allocated to the production of a well-designed and colourful family trail, prepared and distributed to children and their families. The trail draws on the links between the exhibition and the NGV collection. A high quality publication and product, this resource was the first family trail for the NGV. Holiday programs and family programs 'Dressing Ahead' also focused on the exhibition. School Programs provided introductory talks for students and teachers and Italian language classes.

Colin McCahon: A Time for Messages and Dead Sea Scrolls

Public programs attendance: over 3500; student/teachers: over 2000

The timing of these two exhibitions created the opportunity for consideration and review of the intersection of word and image – art and text, from antiquities to present day. Study mornings and joint viewings invited the public, teachers and members to compare and contrast the very different approaches to use of text in art and belief.

An extensive range of public programs was developed to support the Dead Sea Scrolls exhibition. Highlights included a special day of introductory talks as part of Senior Citizens' Week (375 attendees); Auslan (Australian sign language) tours by arrangement, a series of free lunchtime lectures presented by university lecturers and academics (400+); a special lecture by Dr Barbara Thiering, author of the best seller Jesus the Man (320); the 'NGV Art Lounge' (118 attendees); guided talks for groups of 20 or more (300+); the 'Music Program' (600+). Managed by Education and Programs and curated by Merren Ricketson, this exhibition featured sixty works from 48 students. This popular annual exhibition is in its seventh year at the Gallery. The State Reviewers, curator and Manager of Education and Programs selected a representative sample of exemplary works of painting, sculpture, printmaking, drawing, photography, new media, textiles, mixed media and videos for display. A full range of student and public programs complemented the exhibition with more than 9000 students participating in programs before the end of June.

A catalogue and the on-line education resource provided study design information, exhibitors' profiles and information on selected contemporary artists from the NGV to local, national and overseas visitors. A record attendance of more than 420 people attended the opening night in the McArthur Gallery and 205 teachers, exhibitors and their families attended the Gala Dinner at the Hotel Sofitel, Melbourne.

Education partners again included DEET, the Victorian Curriculum and Assessment Authority, the Catholic Education Office, the Association of Independent Schools of Victoria and the principal sponsor was again the Bank of Melbourne. The exhibition was arranged to tour after the NGV to the Geelong Art Gallery, and the Bank of Melbourne sponsored the People's Choice Awards at both NGV on Russell and the Geelong Art Gallery.

TERTIARY AND PROFESSIONAL PLACEMENTS

Julia Christoph, third-year student in Cultural Sciences at Munster University Germany, commenced an eight-week placement with Public Programs on 31 July. This placement came through the Goethe Institute and involved an application for Occupational Training to the Department of Immigration. Libby Bedford, PhD student at The University of Melbourne, completed a three-week placement with School Programs in October.

MULTICULTURAL ARTS MARKETING AMBASSADOR SCHEME (MAMAS)

A partnership program with Multicultural Arts Victoria and The University of Melbourne places an ambassador with the NGV for two days per week for six months from June 2001, to research marketing strategies and program content for diverse audiences. The scheme is funded through the Australia Council.

STAFFING AND PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

The staffing changes and restructure created a high level of mobility within the department and provided the opportunity for School Programs to review the contribution of $174,000 towards salaries and education staff.

EXHIBITION AND COLLECTION MANAGEMENT DIVISION

The main focus during this period for the Exhibitions and Collection Management Division was the realisation of the touring of some of the Gallery's most important international paintings. This project is the most significant example in the history of the Gallery of where exhibitions management and collection management meet. The logistics of such an operation are extremely complex, and it is a testament to every staff member involved in the project that it has been, and continues to be, such a resounding success.

The tour began in July 2000 at the Auckland City Gallery in New Zealand. This part of the tour comprised a selection of 40 paintings and was titled The Master's Eye: Five Centuries of European Painting. This exhibition attracted 51,000 visitors, which is impressive given that Auckland's population is 385,000. The catalogue also sold out.

The rest of the tour comprised 88 paintings, and was specifically designed to tour to four museums in the United States. This larger selection of works is entitled European Masterpieces: Six Centuries of Paintings from the National Gallery of Victoria, Australia. The four museums on the tour are: Cincinnati Art Museum, Kimbell Art Museum, Denver Art Museum, and Portland Art Museum. Following a recent site inspection visit to the Birmingham Art Museum in Alabama, that venue has also been added as the fifth and last United States venue.

Adrian Davey with his Large figure on hands work in the Top Arts: VCE 2000 exhibition

The European Masterpieces exhibition closed at the Cincinnati Art Museum on 14 January 2000 after a phenomenally successful run which included that Museum's highest ever daily attendance, and record queues. The exhibition at the Kimbell Art Museum closed on 26 May 2000. That leg of the tour was also highly successful, and brought large audiences and overwhelming critical praise to the Kimbell Art Museum.

This tour has so far required several courier trips by our Registration, Curatorial, Conservation, and Managerial staff, and will mean more in the future.

An in-principle agreement has also been made to tour a small version – not dissimilar in size and concept – to the New Zealand group of works – to the Singapore Art Museum. The Division Head of Exhibitions and Collection Management will make a site inspection visit to that Museum in July.

The international tour of some of the NGV's most important international paintings was a new undertaking for the department. However, as in the past, works from the Australian collection were also toured to regional galleries. These were: Nolan Wimmera Landscapes to Bendigo Art Gallery; Modern Australian Landscape Painting: Boyd, Drysdale, Nolan, Perceval, Williams to Albury Regional Gallery; Be Jewelled! Contemporary Jewellery from the NGV to Monash Gallery of Art and Geelong Art Gallery; A Sunlit Vision: Photographs by Max Dupain to Monash Gallery of Art and Swan Hill Regional Art Gallery; and The Enduring Landscape: Gouaches by Fred Williams to Monash Gallery of Art and Newcastle Regional Art Gallery.

As always, the loans program extended to ministerial offices and a small number of government buildings.

An exceptional amount of hard work was required by the Registration department to retrieve a body of 3000 works on paper from the Baillieu Library at The University of Melbourne. These works had been on long-term loan since 1967 and were returned to the NGV for audit and cataloguing purposes.

The total number of works on loan from the NGV were: new short-term 354; ongoing short-term 266; new long-term 18; ongoing long-term to government departments and Heide Museum of Modern Art 435; 88 in the European Masterpieces exhibition; 40 in the Master's Eye exhibition; 21 in the Nolan Wimmera Landscapes exhibition; and 18 in the Modern Australian Landscape Paintings exhibition.

The display program at the NGV on Russell continued, with the following exhibitions: Melbourne 1956; LINEAGE: the Architecture of Daniel Libeskind; Gianni Versace: The Retrospective 1982–1997; Colin McCahon: A Time for Messages; Dead Sea Scrolls; Common Wealth: A Tribute to Federation; and Top Arts: VCE 2000. This continual display turn-over could not have been achieved without the diligent efforts of the Registration and Installation teams.

In particular the Dead Sea Scrolls exhibition was of great focus for this department, due to the fact that the Division Head, Gordon Morrison, was also the Co-ordinating Curator. His involvement was intrinsic to the realisation, and the subsequent success of the exhibition. He provided all didactic text for labels and information panels, briefed Education Services and Public Programs staff, delivered nine slide lectures and 15 floor talks, introduced several other public speakers and choirs, gave more than a dozen press interviews, presided over the symposium, liaised with international couriers and curators, and responded to all public enquiries (the overwhelming majority of which were supportive, inquisitive, and positive). Broadly speaking, the Dead Sea Scrolls exhibition welcomed many new audiences to the NGV. Complementing the extraordinary works in the show was the impressive exhibition design, that provided visitors with an ambient, sensitive context in which to view the works. The aesthetic of the space was favourably commented on by visitors regularly.

In October 2000, the Relocation team reformed to begin the process of preparing for packing those works destined for display at The Ian Potter Centre: NGV Australian Art at Federation Square. This substantial project continues to keep this team very busy.

As usual, the Cataloguing department has also maintained an intense schedule of recording detailed information about those international works previously uncatalogued, and for new acquisitions.

In February 2001, the new position of Associate Registrar for Federation Square was created. The main responsibility of this position is the over-seeing of all registration duties for the installation of the collection at Federation Square.

The Programing Sub-Committee, chaired by the President of the Council of the Trustees, continued to meet regularly to discuss, draft and finalise exhibition schedules for NGV on Russell, National Gallery of Victoria: NGV International Art at St Kilda Road, and The Ian Potter Centre: NGV Australian Art at Federation Square.

Exhibitions Travelling to Regional Galleries

Five exhibitions were toured to regional galleries, including three to the metropolitan venue Monash Gallery of Art, and one to the metropolitan venue George Adams Gallery.

Nolan Wimmera Landscapes exhibition continued its tour to Bendigo Art Gallery where the total attendance figure was 8895 (including 420 students). The next venue, Benalla Art Gallery attracted an audience of over 2000 (387 students). The tour finished at George Adams Gallery at the Victorian Arts Centre, where the total number of attendees was 28,983 (student numbers are not available).

Modern Australian Landscape Painting: Boyd, Drysdale, Nolan, Perceval, Williams continued its tour to Mornington Peninsula Regional Gallery where the total attendance figure was 8500 (including 582 students). The La Trobe Regional Gallery attracted an audience of 3449 people (student numbers are not available), while at Gippsland Art Gallery, the total attendance figure was 2393 (863 students). The tour finished at Albury Regional Art Gallery with total attendance of 4841 (663 students).

Be Jewelled! Contemporary Jewellery from the NGV! began its tour at the Monash Gallery of Art, where the total attendance figure was 3409 (including 107 students). The next and final destination was the Geelong Art Gallery, where the total attendance figure was 3504 (714 students).

A Sunlit Vision: Photographs by Max Dupain began at the Monash Gallery of Art, where the total attendance figure was 4846 (approximately 400 students). The exhibition moved on to Swan Hill Regional Art Gallery until 19 August 2001.

The Enduring Landscape: Gouaches by Fred Williams began its tour at Monash Gallery of Art, where the attendance figure was 5011. As this exhibition was during school holidays, the total number of students was not significant. It then moved to Newcastle Regional Art Gallery until 12 August 2001.

Registration

Over the past year the Registration department's main activities have been the management of the international tour of the important international paintings in both the Master's Eye and the Masterpieces exhibitions, the management of changing displays and exhibitions at NGV on Russell, the continuing loans program, and relocation preparations. Three staff members travelled to New Zealand for the pack-up and return of works for the exhibition Master's Eye: Five Centuries of European Painting.

For the exhibition European Masterpieces: Six Centuries of the Paintings from the National Gallery of Victoria, Australia, the following transactions were overseen in person by NGV staff: outward shipment to Cincinnati Art Museum; pack-up at Cincinnati Art Museum; transfer from Cincinnati Art Museum to Kimbell Art Museum; and transfer from Kimbell Art Museum to Denver Art Museum. For these operations nine members of staff travelled to the United States.

The following exhibitions and display changes for NGV on Russell were managed by the Registration department: Melbourne 1956; LINEAGE: The Architecture of Daniel Libeskind; Gianni Versace: The Retrospective 1982–1997; Colin McCahon: A Time for Messages; Dead Sea Scrolls; Common Wealth: A Tribute to Federation; and Top Arts: VCE 2000.

The NGV's support of Australian regional and metropolitan galleries, other public institutions and international museums continued by way of the comprehensive loans program.

The following galleries received loans as part of NGV touring exhibitions: Bendigo Art Gallery; Benalla Art Gallery; George Adams Gallery; Mornington Peninsula Regional Gallery; La Trobe Regional Gallery; Gippsland Art Gallery; Albury Regional Art Gallery; Monash Gallery of Art; Geelong Art Gallery; Swan Hill Regional Art Gallery; and Newcastle Regional Art Gallery.

The following Australian institutions received loans from the NGV permanent collection to complete temporary exhibitions or displays: Queensland Art Gallery; Art Gallery of New South Wales; Art Gallery of South Australia; National Gallery of Australia; National Museum of Australia; Melbourne Museum; Post Master Gallery; Gold Treasury Museum; S.H. Ervin Gallery; Presbyterian Ladies College; Museum of Contemporary Art; Ian Potter Museum of Art, The University of Melbourne; and Australian National University Drill Hall Gallery.

- Paul Signac, Gasometers at Clichy, to Galeries nationales du Grand Palais, Paris
- Michael Andrews, All night long, to Tate Britain

The loans program continues to include those specific to the NGV's redevelopment program. The past financial year saw the return of a number of redevelopment loans from Shepparton Art Gallery, Castlemaine Art Gallery, Hamilton Art Gallery, La Trobe Regional Gallery, and Mildura Art Gallery. As well as these returns, new redevelopment loans were also sent to Geelong Art Gallery and Shepparton Art Gallery. Loans to government offices and Heide Museum of Modern Art included 25 continuing borrowers, five new borrowers, and overall, the loan of 367 works.

The Relocation team continues to be extremely busy with preparations for the moves to Federation Square and St Kilda Road.

Two new positions were created within the Registration department: Vernon Collection Systems Administrator, and Associate Registrar, Federation Square.

MARKETING AND DEVELOPMENT DIVISION

The new branding campaign – to identify the NGV as a distinguished institution developing two premises – was introduced during the year. The foundation of the campaign is the distinctive new logo in 'NGV' red which now appears on NGV stationery and all promotional material, including the Gallery's web site.

The marketing campaign to communicate the NGV's temporary relocation to Russell Street continued throughout the year. Various advertising media were used in a comprehensive strategy formed around the new logo – bright outdoor signage and the red NGV-branded tram were particularly effective.

The Gallery received extensive media coverage. Key issues which attracted media attention included, the Gallery Campaign; the Provenance Project; the Waterwall; The Ian Potter Centre: NGV Australian Art at Federation Square; the gift of Hugh Ramsay's Jeanne by Mr John Wicking; and the purchase of Hussein Chalayan creations from London Fashion Week.

While the media provided strong coverage of the various activities at NGV on Russell, their interest in the progress of the NGV redevelopment continued.

The Gallery Campaign was launched by the Premier of Victoria, Mr Steve Bracks, in October 2000. The three-year campaign – One Vision, Two Galleries – aims to complete the NGV's $200 million dollar funding program to redevelop the Gallery and increase funds for acquisitions.

Excellent media coverage was achieved for all touring exhibitions and for exhibitions at NGV on Russell.

Gianni Versace: The Retrospective 1982–1997 was the first pay exhibition to be held at NGV on Russell as well as the first since the closure of the St Kilda Road Gallery. This successful exhibition was a vibrant vehicle for promotion of the NGV to new audiences and to communicate the temporary relocation of the Gallery.

The exhibition generated extensive interest nationally as well as in France and New Zealand. A wide range of media outlets – from mainstream to alternative – produced stories on the exhibition. Print media included The Australian Women's Weekly; Melbourne Symphony Orchestra (MSO); Who Weekly and Marie Claire. Every commercial television network in Melbourne covered the exhibition at least once and the exhibition was also featured on programs on Foxtel and Channel 31. Radio coverage ranged from RRR to the ABC. Gianni Versace: The Retrospective 1982–1997 also featured on many websites. The Age Online held an online exhibition and Real Media Player of the exhibition. Many of the reports were the first of their kind for the NGV.

Similarly, Dead Sea Scrolls attracted coverage from beyond the Gallery's traditional media outlets. Religious and theological publications provided numerous in-depth articles on the exhibition.

The department wishes to acknowledge and thank the sponsors for their continued support of the Gallery. These include Channel 7 Melbourne, Buspak, Qantas, The Age, Media Entertainment Group, Dulux, Hotel Sofitel Melbourne, The Craftsman Press, Edwards Dunlop Paper, Southcorp Wines, PMP Printing, Colorific, Triple M, Swanston Trams, Cody Outdoor, Tattersall's, The Australian Women's Weekly, Texas Utility (TXU), Pratt Foundation, Diadem, National Australia Bank, Fox FM, Westfield, RACV, Bank of Melbourne, Department of Education, Employment and Training, Victorian Curriculum & Assessment Authority, Catholic Education Office, and Association of Independent Schools of Victoria.

The Voluntary Guides are thanked for their generosity in taking guests through the exhibitions and for their contribution to the success of NGV functions. The NGV Foundation and the National Gallery Women's Association are also thanked for their continuing generous support.

BUSINESS SERVICES DIVISION

Allowing for the smaller exhibition space at NGV on Russell, the gallery was still able to mount two major exhibitions, Gianni Versace: The Retrospective 1982–1997 and Dead Sea Scrolls.

The Versace exhibition was a most exciting and innovative venture that attracted almost 50,000 visitors. The Dead Sea Scrolls exhibition was equally successful and the Gallery's Education and Public Programs areas were also very well patronised during this period.

Gerard Vaughan, Director, Melissa Reynolds, Bank of Melbourne, Chris Brown, Treasurer and Prof Kwong Lee Dow, Chair, Victorian Curriculum and Assessment Authority at Top Arts: VCE 2000 exhibition opening

Top Arts: VCE 2000 proved attractive not only to students, but also to a wider community audience. This exhibition, which is held annually, is attracting larger numbers of patrons each year.

Staffing requirements for the move to Federation Square and return to St Kilda Road are now well in hand and the relocation and conservation teams are working very hard on ensuring that all works are hung and looking their best for the opening of these two world-class galleries.

Following the review of the Gallery's IT system, a new computer system was installed at both the administration centre in North Melbourne and the NGV on Russell. This system is now fully operational, and will provide benefits to the Gallery in the future.

The National Gallery of Victoria Strategic Plan 2001–2003 has been completed and endorsed by the Council of Trustees. Implementation of the plan has commenced and this has been embraced by staff and management. Major areas identified will be developed and reviewed in the years ahead, and this will substantially improve the ability of the Gallery to offer staff a more fulfilling and interactive role in its running.

Staff training remains a major priority for the Gallery, and all staff have participated in a wide range of programs including performance management, equal opportunity, time management and computer training. These courses provided staff with the opportunity to expand their skills, and to play enhanced roles in the Gallery's operations.

The Gallery's commercial operations, which centre on a small retail shop and a coffee shop, continue to operate effectively, and their operations have been enhanced by the large numbers of patrons attending the major exhibitions.

VOLUNTARY AND SUPPORT GROUPS

NGV Foundation

The aim of the NGV Foundation is to attract and encourage donations, gifts, bequests, endowments, trusts and other forms of financial assistance, to enable the Council of Trustees to maintain the continuing interest and financial support of the community in the well being of the National Gallery of Victoria.

The Foundation has enjoyed another successful year. Funds provided for the acquisition of works of art totalled $425,778, and the total value of works gifted totalled $3,393,951. Cash donations totalled $778,837. Since establishment of Foundation in 1976, the total value of works funded and gifted amounts to $35,096,185.

During the year, various functions and private viewings were held for benefactors and guests, and it is pleasing to note that through these sources and other efforts, 74 new members joined the Foundation.

As part of the NGV's fundraising campaign, the Foundation has undertaken to raise $2 million for the naming rights to the special exhibition galleries at The Ian Potter Centre: NGV Australian Art at Federation Square, and has also launched a fund for the acquisition of a major work of art to celebrate the opening of this new gallery and the re-opening of National Gallery of Victoria: NGV International Art at St Kilda Road.

The Board of the NGV Foundation is most appreciative of the continuing support and interest of all benefactors, and their assistance has ensured that the Gallery collection has grown into a priceless national treasure, a cultural and educational resource that enriches the minds and lives of the community.

The Alfred Felton Bequests' Committee

The bequests established by the will of Alfred Felton provide for one half of the income to be distributed for charitable purposes and one half of the income to purchase works of art for the National Gallery of Victoria.

The Bequests' Committee considers for purchase only items that are recommended by the Trustees of the National Gallery of Victoria.

Dr Alison Inglis, the Committee member representing the Gallery, reports to the Bequests' Committee on matters of importance to the NGV, including works of art for possible acquisition.

Professor John Poynter's commission to write a biography of the late Alfred Felton is progressing. The biography, incorporating the history and achievements of the Bequest, is expected to be completed to coincide with the preparation of special events to mark the centenary in January 2004 of the Felton Bequests.

While the Trustee did not make a purchase in the year ending June 2001, funds are being accumulated for a significant purchase before the end of 2001.

National Gallery of Victoria Business Council

The National Gallery of Victoria Business Council assists the NGV in the raising of sponsorship for exhibitions and other activities of the Gallery.

Business Council Members and their guests enjoy out-of-hours Gallery visits, guided tours and visits behind-the-scenes. Access to exhibitions for corporate entertainment is a very important benefit of Business Council Membership. The Council keenly awaits the arrival of Renoir to Picasso: Masterpieces from the Musée de l'Orangerie, Paris to enjoy this special benefit. The NGV on Russell has provided Members with the exclusive privilege of entertaining clients in the magnificent McArthur Gallery and a number of spectacular dinners have been held in the past year.

The Council's annual Arts Dinner 2000 was held in conjunction with the exhibition LINEAGE: The architecture of Daniel Libeskind. Architects from the two gallery projects joined artists and Members at dinner to give an insight and update on the progress of the two projects.

The Council's programs included a special viewing of the Dead Sea Scrolls and a visit to the Victorian Tapestry Workshop.

Throughout the redevelopment period, a full membership program is operating at NGV on Russell, and in 2002 the program will expand to include the The Ian Potter Centre: NGV Australian Art at Federation Square.

The Council reported a successful year with all functions well attended. We would like to acknowledge and thank Mrs Lyn Williams for generously hosting a private evening for Members. Our thanks also go to Mari Funaki, Ms Sue Walker, AM and our own Gallery Curators who shared their knowledge with Members, partners and guests, helping to make our function all the more enjoyable.

National Gallery Society of Victoria

The National Gallery Society has experienced a very difficult period since free entry was introduced at St Kilda Road in 1996, but we have turned the corner and the future is looking very positive indeed.

This past year has seen our financial position improve significantly. We had forecast a small profit, however, we finished the year with a surplus of $72,542. This compares with the loss of $283,339 for the previous year.

Our membership numbers improved in 1999-2000 when we offered 'two years for the price of one', but that offer has now ended and numbers have further reduced in the past year. On the other hand, our current retention rate of 75 per cent is in line with most major galleries around the world.

By 30 June 2001, we had enrolled 35 organisations as members of our corporate membership program. This is a very pleasing result and reflects the attractiveness of a sensibly priced membership specifically designed for smaller to medium sized organisations.

The Society's bi-monthly magazine Gallery continues to provide a link between members, the Society and the NGV. A good deal of time and effort goes into producing the magazine with the result that we provide members with a world-class publication.

Throughout the year we continued to offer members a diverse and stimulating series of events through the Members Program. Some 195 events were available with over 7000 people attending. The take-up rate for programs improved to 75 per cent. Looking to the future, the privileges and advantages of members will become very real with the opening of our two new galleries The Ian Potter Centre: NGV Australian Art at Federation Square and National Gallery of Victoria: NGV International Art at St Kilda Road open. It augurs well for the future of the Gallery Society.

Friends of the Gallery Library

The Friends of the Gallery Library, under the leadership of Dr Robin Sharwood, contributed over $18,000 during the year towards the purchase of books for the NGV Library. Some notable additions were a collection of catalogues from the Gabinetto Disegni e Stampe degli Uffizi, and the catalogues raisonnés of Anton Mengs, Taddeo and Federico Zuccari, Max Ernst, Piranesi's etchings, and Picasso's ceramics. Without the Friends these expensive items could not have been acquired.

The Friends held a series of four lectures. Dr George MacDonald, Director, Museum Victoria, spoke on the new Melbourne Museum, while Dr Isobel Crombie, NGV's Senior Curator, Photograph, spoke about a 19th century album of photographs belonging to Viscountess Jocelyn. Dr Christopher McAuliffe, Director of the Ian Potter Museum of Art, The University of Melbourne, discussed some paintings in the collection of The University of Melbourne; and Mr Gordon Morrison, NGV's Division Head, Exhibition and Collection Management, gave an overview of the Dead Sea Scrolls exhibition.

Voluntary Guides who graduated in June 2001

Voluntary Guides

The Voluntary Guides have continued to work from two campuses this year. Through the generosity of Village Cinemas, lectures have been held at the Europa Cinema in South Yarra, while administration and guided tours have taken place at the NGV on Russell.

Forty-eight new Guides completed 18 months training in June. Frances Lindsay, Deputy Director, Australian Art, officiated at their graduation and Steve Vizard, President of the Council of Trustees, and Gerard Vaughan, Director, spoke at the graduation lunch. We were pleased that Jim Cousins, the Deputy President, Graeme Newcombe, Chief Operating Officer, and Gina Panebianco, Manager, Education and Programs, could also attend. Never before in our 33-year history has such an ambitious training program for new Guides taken place under such unusual circumstances, so we have been enormously encouraged by the support we have received from the Gallery's Trustees, management and staff.

Throughout the year, 65 Guides have offered a range of services to the visiting public. These have included general 'Highlight' and 'Mini' tours, booked 'Special Tours', 'Picture of the Month', the 'Children's Holiday Program' and 'Gallery Visits You'. Guides have also assisted Public Programs, the Business Council and the Gallery Society. Special tours and booked tours were also offered for three major exhibitions: LINEAGE: the Architecture of Daniel Libeskind, Gianni Versace: The Retrospective 1982-1997 and Dead Sea Scrolls.

Our organisation has a rich heritage on which to build and this is reflected in other galleries' interest in our programs. This year we have welcomed Guides from Geelong and Heide Galleries to our lectures, and we also plan a seminar, to be held in conjunction with Public Galleries Association of Victoria (PGAV), for regional Victorian galleries. The NGV is well placed to take the lead in this way.

The year has been challenging but also very rewarding and we look forward to the opening of Federation Square with excitement. Guides have reviewed their processes of governance in preparation for the changes to come, and the membership has increased to 111 Guides in anticipation of a diverse program to accommodate the vast collections of the NGV. The new Gallery will present fresh opportunities to apply new strategies for guiding in a revolutionary space.

National Gallery Women's Association

The National Gallery Women's Association was established in 1961 to raise funds for acquiring works of art, to promote the welfare of the Gallery and to assist the Director and Trustees. In addition, Encouragement Awards were introduced for art students attending the Victorian College of the Arts. The Association also donates a book to the NGV Library, chosen in consultation with the Librarian, in memory of late members. The Library has received 11 books since the inception of this scheme in 1996.

Despite the closure of the Gallery, the enthusiasm of members of the Association has not waned, and we have had a busy year of fund-raising events.

'Art of the Palate' dinners, whereby generous hosts provide a viewing of their art collection and a talk, followed by a formal dinner, have continued in popularity. We have enjoyed evenings hosted by William Mora at his gallery, the Liberman family at JGL, and Chris Deutscher and Rod Menzies at Deutscher Menzies. We now also organise 'limited edition' dinners in private homes for a small number of guests, as initiated so successfully by Rupert and Annabel Myer.

Another inaugural event was the Annual Lecture. The first speaker was Dr Gerard Vaughan, Director, whose talk on Allan Ramsay's Portrait of Lord Temple before an audience of 360, set a high standard which we hope to maintain.

Also new this year was a 'Golf Day at The National', Cape Schanck, which should continue to be an enjoyable and effective fund-raiser.

'Garden Day' in October brought nearly 1000 visitors, as did the annual 'Film Night' in June. The generosity of the garden owners and Village Roadshow resulted in good profits from both these events.

Thanks to the Myer family, 95 guests were treated to a perfect March evening cocktail party at Cranlana house and garden.

We spent a most interesting day in the Geelong area when Geoffrey Edwards, Director, Geelong Art Gallery, welcomed us to the newly renovated Gallery and Brian Hubber of the State Library talked about the exhibition of works related to convict William Buckley. Dr Judith Trimble then led us through the Deakin University Woolstores Campus and Costa Hall. Next we visited the Mansion Hotel, Werribee for a delicious lunch generously donated by Anne and Mark Robertson, followed by a tour of the Helen Lempriere Sculpture exhibition.

Members and guests have been privileged to hear most interesting floor talks by Gallery staff. Robyn Healy, Senior Curator, Fashion and Textiles and Katie Somerville, Assistant Curator, Fashion and Textiles took us through the Gianni Versace: The Retrospective 1982-1997 exhibition, and the Dead Sea Scrolls were given meaningful context by Gordon Morrison, Division Head, Exhibition and Collection Management.

Last September, in conjunction with the NGV Foundation and thanks to the generosity of Sheraton Towers Southgate, we held a fun 1950s cocktail party which enabled us to contribute to the purchase of Charles Blackman's Georges Mora, 1956. When The Ian Potter Centre: NGV Australian Art at Federation Square opens, we hope we will be in a strong position to assist with the purchase of another major work.

STAFFING

Organisational Chart

After months of consultation and review, the National Gallery of Victoria Strategic Plan 2001–2003 was endorsed by the Council of Trustees. This document brings together the views of the NGV's key stakeholders, including staff and management of the NGV, Government, sponsors and other art institutions and artists. The key focus of this document is the development of excellence and innovation internally, and of leadership through strong external partnerships, with existing stakeholders and with others in the community.

Brett Moore ceased duties as Principal, Education School Programs in December 2000 and Craig Young ceased duties as Education Officer, School Programs in January 2001. Brett and Craig returned to their school appointments for the start of the new school year.

Irene Ruffolo ceased duties on 29 April as Program Coordinator to pursue studies in Europe and Clare Leporati ceased duties as Bookings Officer on 6 April to commence work in an arts agency.

In June 2001, after management, staff and the Community and Public Sector Union had been rigorously consulted for more than 12 months, the NGV's second Enterprise Agreement received a 97 per cent 'yes' vote.

In October 2000, Gerard Vaughan, Director of the NGV, travelled to Cincinnati for the opening of the European Masterpieces: Six Centuries of Paintings from the National Gallery of Victoria, Australia exhibition and also attended the ICOM/CECA conference in Auckland.

In December 2000, Frances Lindsay, Deputy Director, Australian Art, travelled to Japan at the invitation of the Agency for Cultural Affairs to undertake a cultural tour of museums. Tony Ellwood, Deputy Director, International Art, travelled to Denver in June 2001 for the opening of the European Masterpieces exhibition, as well as visiting San Francisco and Los Angeles in connection with possible exhibitions. From Security Services, Steven Ward, travelled to New York to visit several galleries to discuss security issues.

Several staff members couriered works of art overseas. From the Curatorial department, Sonia Dean travelled to Cincinnati; Susan van Wyk to Switzerland; Jason Smith to London; Maria Zagala to Britain; Cathy Leahy to London; Kirsty Grant to Baltimore and Philadelphia; Geoffrey Smith to London; Irena Zdanowicz to London, and Katie Somerville to Paris. From the Conservation department, Lizette Burgess and Carl Villis travelled to Cincinnati; John Payne to Cincinnati, Fort Worth and Madrid; Tom Dixon to Fort Worth, Denver and Houston; Catherine Earley to Auckland, Cincinnati and London, and Ruth Shervington to New York. From the Registration department, Janine Bofill travelled to Cincinnati, Fort Worth and Denver; Denise McCann to Auckland and Baltimore; David Legg to Cincinnati, and Ieva Kanepa to Cincinnati and Fort Worth. Gordon Morrison, Division Head Exhibition and Collection Management, travelled to Auckland. From the Senior Executive Team, Graeme Newcombe and Tony Ellwood travelled to Fort Worth and Alabama.

Promotions During the Year

Consultative Processes

Various committees are formed as needs arise, so that staff members are enabled to nominate a representative to participate in consultations on matters affecting their working environment and conditions. Current committees are:

- the Staffing Issues Consultative Committee, which continued as a forum for staff to raise issues and concerns.
- the Staff Training and Development Committee, which continued to oversee the training and development program for the NGV.
- the Occupational Health and Safety Committee, which continued to oversee the Gallery's Occupational Health and Safety (OH&S) requirements.

Merit and Equity Goals

The NGV is committed to ensuring that merit and equity principals are integral to all aspects of human resource development. It has identified the four corporate goals set out in the Office of the Public Service Commissioner (OPSC) policy statement as a basis for evaluating the effectiveness of existing merit and equity initiatives. The goals are as follows:

- Managing diversity: 'To develop and sustain an organisational culture in which policies, practices and services are adapted to the needs of a diverse and evolving community.'
- Equal employment opportunity (EEO): 'To ensure the diversity of the organisation's workforce reflects the labour market and its customer base.'
- Anti-discrimination: 'To ensure workplaces are free from policies and practices that discriminate unlawfully against staff or potential job seekers.'
- Individual grievances: 'To ensure that staff have access to a fair and efficient grievance review process that addresses breaches of merit and equity.'

Processes for achieving these goals have been incorporated into:

- the staff training and development program
- the performance-management system
- the selection and recruitment processes
- the grievance and resolution process
- people management.

Staff Training and Development

The Gallery aims to provide opportunities for all staff to develop and broaden their skills. Several strategies have been developed to achieve this, namely

- the implementation of the Frontline Management Initiative Program designed for staff in supervisory positions
- the generic training and development program including training on all aspects of merit and equity
- formal study-leave programs.

A training and development committee continues to oversee the training and development requirements of the NGV.

Selection and Recruitment

The Gallery's strategy for guaranteeing merit and equity in recruitment and selection includes the following:

- development and distribution of a Selection, Recruitment and Induction Manual and delivery of associated training for all staff in supervisory positions
- collection and analysis of information related to the Gallery's workforce and future organisational needs
- ensuring that a process for selection-grievance resolution is in place.

The Grievance Resolution Process

The Gallery's grievance process has now been in place for some time. Any staff member who wishes to lodge a personal grievance against any action that directly affects them has been fully informed on the appropriate process. This process complies with requirements as set out in the Public Sector Management and Employment Act 1998. Equal opportunity briefing sessions were provided to all staff throughout the year.

People Management and Performance Management

The Gallery has identified people management as a critical ingredient in management of merit and equity as well as of individual and organisational performance. The Gallery is firmly committed to these principles as well as to implementing a strategy in which an ongoing performance management system and education and training activities are incorporated. Working on the premise that all managers are responsible for applying merit and equity principles, and all staff members have a responsibility to comply with these principles,

- the performance-management system currently in place provides a comprehensive process for work planning, professional development and feedback based on these principles. This system applies to all staff and provides a process for accurately monitoring effectiveness, measuring progress and responding to the changing needs of staff and customers. Training, which focused on the principles of performance management and effective appraisal interviews, was provided to all staff throughout the year.

- through an employee-assistance program, staff members continued to receive support for personal and/or work-related issues that could affect their ability to both undertake their duties and contribute to meeting the Gallery's organisational goals and objectives.

Specific Case and Issue Management

The Gallery can tailor strategies to address specific issues that have merit and equity implications.

NOTES TO AND FORMING PART OF THE ACCOUNTS

AS AT 30 JUNE 2001

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

This general-purpose financial report has been prepared in accordance with the Financial Management Act 1994, Australian Accounting Standards, Statements of Accounting Concepts and other authoritative pronouncements of the Australian Accounting Standards Board, and Urgent Issues Group Consensus Views.

The financial report is prepared in accordance with the historical cost convention, except for certain fixed assets, investments, long service leave entitlements, works of art and library collections. The accounting policies adopted, and the classification and presentation of items, are consistent with those of the previous year, except where a change is required to comply with an Australian Accounting Standard or Urgent Issues Group Consensus Views, or an alternative accounting policy or alternative presentation or classification of an item, as permitted by an Australian Accounting Standard, is adopted to improve the relevance and reliability of the financial report. Where practicable, comparative amounts are presented and classified on a basis consistent with the current year.

In addition, these financial statements are in accordance with the new Accounting Trilogy for the statements of financial performance, statement of financial position and statement of cash flows.

a. Reporting Entity

The financial statements include all the controlled activities of the National Gallery of Victoria. The gallery has no controlled entities, however, the net assets and equity of the bequests that have been made to it are included in the reporting entity.

b. Accounting Policies

Accounting policies are consistent with previous years unless otherwise stated.

c. Works of art and Library Collections and Other Assets

Works of art and library collections

Control of works of art in the State collection is vested in the Council of Trustees of the National Gallery of Victoria by virtue of the National Gallery of Victoria Act 1966 as amended. Additions to the collection may take the form of either a purchase by the Gallery or a donation from the public.

During 1995–96, a project was commenced at the instruction of the State Government of Victoria to determine a value for the entire holdings of works of art and library material. This project was completed on 30 May 1997, and the resultant valuations are recognised in the financial statements.

Works of art were valued independently by Sotheby's Australia Pty Ltd, in each segment of sub-collections, resulting in a total value of $597,646,438. All directors of Sotheby's Australia Pty Ltd are approved valuers under the Commonwealth of Australia taxation incentives for the arts scheme.

During 1997–98 an additional $400,000, representing the market value of two sculptures, was recognised for the first time. The valuations were provided by Ms B. Hince, a registered valuer, under the taxation incentives for the arts scheme.

Library collections were valued independently by Kenneth Hince Old and Fine Books Pty Ltd (Member of the Antiquarian Booksellers Association). The valuation was completed on 11 December 1995, resulting in a total valuation of $1,500,400. The revaluation of the National Gallery of Victoria library is planned to be carried out in conjunction with the State Library of Victoria revaluation of its own collection.

The reported values represent market buying price current at the time of valuation in accordance with the Department of Treasury and Finance policy 'Recognition and valuation of non-current physical assets'. However, the individual valuations are not intended to be used, and would be inappropriate, for insurance, sale or any purpose other than the preparation of the annual financial statements.

Subsequent acquisitions of works-of-art and library books by purchase are recorded initially at cost. Subsequent acquisitions by donations are recorded at the market value that is current at the time of the donation. Market values are determined from either an average of independent valuations for works donated under the taxation incentives for the arts scheme or from a curatorial assessment by the National Gallery of Victoria.

The National Gallery of Victoria maintains a Works of art reserve equivalent to the estimated value of its Works of art portfolio.

Property, plant and equipment

Other non-current assets such as furniture and fittings, computer equipment, plant and equipment were valued in 1995 on a replacement cost basis by Mason Lockwood. These assets have not been re-valued in the current financial year due to the fact that most of the computer equipment will be written off in 2001–2002 and replaced by leased equipment and that the majority of this equipment is less than two years old. The written-down values of the remaining assets are considered immaterial as compared to the total assets value in the Statement of Financial Position. The Council of Trustees therefore decided to have them re-valued when the National Gallery of Victoria is relocated back to the St Kilda Road site.

As a result of changes to the Victorian Arts Centre Act 1979, assets, being the land and buildings of the St Kilda Road gallery, previously reported in the financial statement of the Victorian Arts Centre Trust, were transferred to the National Gallery of Victoria at a value determined by the Minister for Finance as at 1 July 2000. The capital cost of the refurbishment works at the St Kilda Road gallery expended up until 30 June 2000 was transferred at historical cost.

d. Depreciation of Non-current Assets

Depreciation is calculated on a straight-line basis so as to write-off applicable assets over their estimated useful lives to the Gallery. Depreciation is treated as an operating expense, and is recognised in the Statement of Financial Performance based on the following categories:

Asset	%
Buildings	2.00%
Capital improvements	7.50%
Works-in-progress	Nil
Capital improvement – Temporary sites	33.33%
Computer equipment and software	20.00%
Furniture and fittings	7.50%
Plant and equipment	10.00%
Office equipment	20.00%

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (continued)

Works of art are kept under special conditions so that there is minimal physical deterioration. They are anticipated to have indeterminate useful lives. No amount for depreciation has been recognised in respect of works of art, as their service potential has not, in any material sense, been consumed during the reporting period. Depreciation on the St Kilda Road gallery building will commence once the current refurbishment program has been completed.

e. Investments

Investments are valued at market value.

f. Inventory

Inventories on hand are valued at the lower of cost or net realisable value, and where appropriate, provision is made for possible obsolescence. In the current period all inventory is valued at cost.

g. Major Expense

In the 1999–2000 financial year a net amount of $7.5 million was written off in the Statement of Financial Performance in respect of capital improvements to the former site of the National Gallery of Victoria at St Kilda Road. Further demolition took place during the 2000–2001 financial year amounting to a net $1.1 million. These expenses have been classified in Note 6, 'Other expenses from ordinary activities' as 'Demolished capital improvements – St Kilda Road gallery'.

The interior of this site has been demolished and substantial renovations are taking place on this site with a completion date in early 2003.

h. Employee Entitlements

The National Gallery of Victoria has, in accordance with AAS 30 – Accounting for Employee Entitlements, assessed the liability for employee entitlements, and the amount represents the present obligation to pay entitlements that result from services provided up to the balance date. Liabilities for employee entitlements to wages, salaries and annual leave are accrued at nominal rates.

The liability for employee entitlements for long service leave represents the present value of the estimated future cash outflows to be made to employees for services provided up to the balance date. In determining the liability for employee entitlements, consideration was given to future increases in wages and salary rates, and experience with staff departures. Related on-costs have also been included in the liability.

i. Rounding

Amount shown in the financial statements are rounded to the nearest thousand dollars or, in other case, to the nearest dollar.

j. Revenue Recognition

In accordance with AAS 15 – Revenue, revenues are measured at the fair value of the consideration or contribution received or receivable. Revenue is recognised only when it can be reliably measured.

Sale of Goods and Disposal of Other Assets

Revenue arising from sale of goods or disposal of other assets is recognised when the following conditions have been satisfied:

- Control of the goods or other assets has passed to the buyer.
- It is probable that the economic benefits comprising the consideration will be realised.

Rendering of Services

Revenue arising from a contract for provision of services is recognised by reference to the stage of completion of the contract when the following conditions have been satisfied:

- Control of a right to be compensated for the services rendered exists.
- It is probable that the economic benefits comprising the compensation will be realised.
- The stage of completion of the transaction can be reliably measured.

Contribution of Assets

Revenue arising from contribution of assets is recognised when the following conditions have been satisfied:

- Control of the contribution or right to receive the contribution exists.
- It is probable that the economic benefits comprising the contribution will be realised.

State Government Contributions

State Government contributions are recognised on receipt.

Interest

Interest revenue is recognised on a time-proportionate basis that takes into account the effective yield on the financial asset.

Dividends

Dividend revenue is recognised when the right to receive payment is established.

Member Subscriptions

Member subscriptions are recognised as income in the same period as covered by the subscriptions.

Management Fees

Exhibition management fees are recognised as income in the period in which they are received.

k. Capital Asset Charge

The capital asset charge is imposed by the Department of Treasury and Finance and represents the opportunity cost of capital invested in the non-current physical assets used in the provision of outputs. The charge is calculated on the carrying amount of non-current physical assets (excluding heritage assets).

(b) Post balance date

Investment markets are subject to volatility. The terrorist attacks on the United States of America of 11 September 2001 have exacerbated this volatility and caused significant falls in the value of Australian and global equities. Based on the latest valuation reports provided by Rothschild Australia Asset Management Limited the adverse market conditions between balance date (30 June 2001) and the date of signing this report (31 October 2001), have adversely impacted on the Gallery's investments, resulting in a decrease in their value by approximately $1 million.

As a matter of course, the Gallery will continue to monitor market conditions in association with its investment advisors. The Gallery has adopted a long-term strategic planning horizon in the formulation of the Gallery's investment objectives, and these objectives recognise the volatility in investment markets.

15. Resources Received Free of Charge

The market value of land and buildings for the St Kilda Road gallery did not appear in the financial statements until 1 July 2000, when they were transferred to the National Gallery of Victoria. Until that date, all property occupied by the National Gallery of Victoria was leased without financial consideration.

The St Kilda Road site was leased without financial consideration from the Victorian Arts Centre Trust. The estimated market value of the free use of these facilities during 1999–2000 was $1,255,500. This represents the four months of the occupation of this site prior to the move of the Gallery to temporary accommodation at the Public Records Office site in North Melbourne and 285 Russell Street, Melbourne. This value was determined by applying the market rent per square metre of an adjacent building to the useable floor space of the National Gallery of Victoria.

The temporary gallery at 285 Russell Street is leased without financial consideration from the State Library of Victoria, by the National Gallery of Victoria for a period of 12 months during the 2000–2001 financial year at an estimated value of $839,100 (9 months during 1999–2000 – estimated value $559,400).

In addition, the site at North Melbourne, also leased without financial consideration from the Public Records Office has been occupied by the National Gallery of Victoria for a period of 12 months during the 2000–2001 financial year at an estimated value of $1,190,800 (8 months during 1999–2000 – estimated value $799,200).

A tenant within the temporary North Melbourne site receives administrative support from the National Gallery of Victoria without financial consideration. The estimated value of this resource provided free of charge is as follows:

Expenses from ordinary activities of the National Gallery of Victoria have been reduced by $45,000 to recognise this resource provided free of charge classified separately as an expense.

16. Audit Fees

The Victorian Auditor-General's Office audits the annual financial statements of the National Gallery of Victoria. Amounts payable for this service total $17,200 (1999–2000: $24,600).

17. Financial Instruments

(i) Accounting Policies

The economic entity's accounting policies, and terms and conditions of each class of financial asset and financial liability, at the balance date, are as follows.

■ Investments

Investments include equities and fixed interest securities. Investments on the stock exchange and market securities are brought to account at market value, and interest and dividend income is recognised in the revenue and expense statement when receivable.

Net unrealised gains are credited to the asset revaluation reserve. Market values and historical cost for each class of investment are reported at note 9.

■ Debtors and Accrued Income

Trade debtors are carried at nominal amounts due, less any provision for doubtful debts. A provision for doubtful debts is recognised when collection of the full nominal amount is no longer probable. Credit sales are generally on 30-day terms.

■ Creditors and Accrual

These amounts represent liabilities for goods and services provided to the economic entity prior to the end of the financial year, and which are unpaid. The amounts are unsecured and are usually paid within 30 days of recognition.

(ii) Net Fair Value

Unless otherwise stated, each class of financial asset and financial liability is recognised in the statement of financial performance at book value which approximates net fair value.

17. Financial Instruments (continued)

(iii) Credit Risk

The maximum credit risk on financial assets of the entity, which have been recognised on the statement of financial performance, is generally the carrying amount less any provision for doubtful debts. The total credit-risk exposure of the economic entity could also be considered to include the difference between the carrying amount and the realisable amount.

(iv) Foreign Exchange Risk

The economic entity maintains a US dollar bank account to hold funds collected from the European Masterpieces exhibition touring the United States of America. No hedging of the foreign exchange risk is undertaken. The account held $2,515,222 ($US1,261,384) at 30 June 2001 (2000: $Nil)

(v) Interest Risk

18. Contra Sponsorship

The National Gallery of Victoria receives sponsorship in the form of advertising, accommodation, printing, refreshments, travel, freight, etc. in exchange for promoting the provider as a corporate supporter of the Gallery. As at 30 June 2001, these schemes were carrying total liabilities, including liabilities for members' benefits, in excess of the value of the schemes' assets. In line with government policy, the unfunded superannuation liabilities have been reflected in the financial statements of the Department of Treasury and Finance.

Victorian Superannuation Board (Revised Scheme)

Contributions are calculated at 14 per cent of participating-employee salaries.

Victorian Superannuation Board (New Scheme)

Contributions to this scheme vary as follows, depending on the amounts contributed by participating employees.

Employee contribution	Employer contribution	Benefits

23. Additions to Contributed Capital

The National Gallery of Victoria's financial statements include the following additions to Contributed Capital for the financial year:

	2000–01 $'000s	1999–2000 $'000s
Opening balance	2,130	0
Land	20,000	0
Building	18,972	0
Capital improvements
Amounts transferred from the Victoria Arts Centre Trust	25,551	0
Capital improvements	8,932	2,130
Total	75,585	2,130

An exemption was granted by the Minister of Finance under subsection 47(1) of the Financial Management Act 1994 in both the 2000–2001 and 1999–2000 financial years to treat the above amount as 'Contributions to Capital' in the financial statements of the National Gallery of Victoria.

As a result of changes to the Victorian Arts Centre Act 1979, assets, being the land, buildings and the capital cost of the refurbishment works of the St Kilda Road gallery, previously on the books of the Victorian Arts Centre Trust, were transferred to the National Gallery of Victoria. Land and buildings were transferred at 'fair value' and the refurbishment works at 'cost'.

The amount of $25,550,741 and $8,931,372 represent the capital cost of refurbishment works at the St Kilda Road gallery.

Depreciation on both buildings and capital works at the gallery will commence once the refurbishment has been completed and the building project managers have handed over the building to the National Gallery of Victoria.

The amount of $2,130,388 in the 1999–2000 financial year was the capital cost of temporary exhibition site works, which have an expected useful life of 3 years.

24. Asset – Capital Improvements Write-off

The financial statements include the write-off of a written down value of assets of $1.1 million (1999–2000: $7.5 million) and this has been disclosed in 'Note 6 Other expenses from ordinary activities'. These write-offs are due to the move of the Gallery to various temporary locations and the re-development of the St Kilda Road site. Prior capital improvements have been removed and it is appropriate to treat the historical capital improvements at the St Kilda Road site as write-offs in determining the net result for the reporting period.
